

I believe that the 3 artifacts shown express how ENC 1001 has taught us to interpret many type of media, including formal essays, movies, and video discussions. Artifact 1 was our first written assignment for the class and shows that at first, I did not even fully understand how to format my submissions in MLA style. The variety among the artifacts in what they discuss also shows how the class has allowed us to dive into different topics regarding literacy, such as multimodality, rhetoric, and audiences. Arguments made in these artifacts, such as that involving code switching, also further allowed me to formulate my own ideas and write about them within the major assignments.
